모범답안 및 번역 p. 104	문제 4	Alternative splicing is the process that gene products are arranged into proteins. It can produce a wide array of protein shapes, which accounts for the greater complication humans have as an intelligent species, despite having the same amount of genes as other vertebrates.	Alternative splicing is the process that gene products are arranged into proteins. Second, alternative splicing allows for more complexity to come from the same genes, which makes greater diversity among life forms, and thus could be responsible for human intelligence.
모범답안 및 번역 p. 148	문제 4	The halo effect is a(the) tendency for an impression created in one area to influence opinion in another area(또는 the tendency to correlate one distinguishing feature of a person to all other features of the person). Second, if a story is consistent in narrative, the readers would be put at “ease” and with clear feelings as a result.	The halo effect is the natural tendency to interpret all aspects of a person according to one significant characteristic. Second, if a story is consistent in narrative, the readers would be put at “ease” and with clear feelings as a result.
